A panel of experienced environmental professionals from across different sectors will speak about their unique career journeys, and the challenges and changes that they have experienced along the way.

Panel members for this event will include:

Michael Nolan

Principal Advisor and Chair, UN Global Compact Cities Programme

Angela Rutter

Director of Engagement, Australian Conservation Foundation

Amanda Jones

Environment Leader, Energy Australia

Dr. Hartmut Fuenfgeld

Senior Lecturer, Sustainability and Urban Planning at RMIT

The event will be facilitated by Green Steps Senior Trainer, Mark Boulet. Mark has over 12 years experience in environmental education and organizational sustainability in higher education, community groups and the public service. Mark also managed the award winning Green Steps program for six years from 2008.

If you are currently enrolled, or are considering enrolment in an environmental education program, this is a fantastic opportunity to learn more about what options are available to you after graduation.
