Meet the Policy Drivers II

The Environment Institute of Australia and New Zealand invites you to participate in a very special event.

The second annual Meet the Policy Drivers event will be held this August, featuring leading policy makers from the Victorian Government. The inaugural event was a huge success last year.

EIANZ members and guests have a unique opportunity to meet these inspiring and accomplished leaders, and hear them discuss their latest policy initiatives and directions in this election year.

This important forum will focus on current issues and future policy and regulatory directions in environmental, planning, climate change, transportation and natural resource management in Victoria.

Meet the Policy Drivers II

	Jim Betts took up his position as the Secretary of Victorian Government's newly formed Department of Transport on 14 May 2008. The Department has a staff of about 1800 people and alongside VicRoads is responsible for public transport, roads and ports throughout Victoria. Prior to his appointment as Secretary in Jim's previous roles he had overseen train, tram, bus and taxi operations throughout Victoria. Jim has extensive experience in commercial and policy development, particularly in public transport, with both the Victorian and UK governments.
	Dr Richard Aldous is the Deputy Secretary, Energy and Earth Resources at the Department of Primary Industries. Richard is responsible for providing strategic advice and support on policy, regulation and investment facilitation to the Secretary and Minister for Energy and Resources concerning the energy, minerals and extractive industries. He also oversees energy policy advice and projects and the implementation and further development of the Energy Technology Innovation Strategy.
	Prue Digby is the Deputy Secretary of Planning and Local Government, Department of Planning and Community Development. Prue was previously the Executive Director of Local Government, Employment and Adult Education in the Department for Victorian Communities. Prior to this Prue was the Chief Executive Officer for the City of Yarra and also worked as a senior manager at the City of Melbourne. Prue started her professional career as a social worker. Prue has over 25 years experience in providing community and public related services to inner Melbourne in both the government and non-government sectors. She has extensive experience in managing organisational change, delivering services from complex organisational settings, and dealing with sensitive community issues. Prue is currently the President of Ruyton Girls School. Outside of her professional life, Prue is involved with many family activities. As a result of having a child with a disability, Prue has participated in a range of community based and parent run support activities and organisations for children with disabilities.
	Adam Fennessy is currently the Executive Director, Environmental Policy and Climate Change with the Department of Sustainability and Environment. Prior to this Adam was Executive Director, Infrastructure and Economics in the Department of Premier and Cabinet where his responsibilities included transport and planning policy, major project implementation and economic and industry policy. Adam has held executive roles in DPC's Resources and Infrastructure Branch and at the Department of Sustainability and Environment. Before this, Adam worked as a Commonwealth Government policy and legal adviser for transport, communications and the arts.
