ABOUT EIANZ

The Environment Institute of Australia and New Zealand (EIANZ) is a professional association for environmental practitioners. We support practitioners throughout their careers – from students and early career professionals to experienced and certified practitioners, through to retirement. We harness the expertise of our members to progress environmental practice and advocate to improve sustainability outcomes.

The Institute has a certification scheme that recognises ethical and professional practice which assures government, industry, and the community of practitioners' professional standing. Our members and certified practitioners have specialist knowledge and skills in environmental systems, processes, and solutions. They bring passion, ingenuity, and creativity to their work.

National Biodiversity Offsets Conference 4.0

As Australia moves toward a nature-positive future, environmental offsets are under unprecedented scrutiny but also represent a significant opportunity for achieving nature positive outcomes.

The National Biodiversity Offsets Conference, in its fourth iteration, brings together policymakers, regulators, practitioners, Traditional Owners, industry and market leaders to explore how offsets can genuinely deliver ecological gains while maintaining integrity, transparency and trust.

Across five inter-connected themes, the program will build on programs from previous conferences, to examine the evolving policy and governance landscape, including compliance mechanisms, offset governance frameworks, the role of markets and the reforms to the EPBC Act.

The conference will explore the rise of net gain and nature-positive approaches, emerging biodiversity, nature and repair markets, and how offset funds and market-based mechanisms can drive real outcomes for biodiversity while supporting project assessments and delivery.

The conference will delve into the practical realities of offset assessment, design and delivery, from aligning the mitigation hierarchy and addressing unacceptable impacts, challenges of restoration and habitat creation, climate-resilient offsets and managing offset

CONFERENCE PROGRAM

The program will include:

- Keynote addresses
- Panel discussions
- Presentations
- Networking events
- Networking opportunities

BENEFITS FOR SPONSORS

- Demonstrates commitment to best practice environmental outcomes.
- Demonstrates commitment to young environmental professionals and their career development.
- Direct access to a captive audience of your potential future customers and / or workforce.
- Exposure to local, national, and potentially international delegates.
- Opportunity for broad exposure to delegates scarcity. Sessions will highlight lessons learned from implementation and the opportunities presented by advanced offset frameworks.

A strong focus will be placed on evidence, outcomes and integrity.

The conference will deep dive into the following:

- What constitutes a genuine gain;
- how metrics and monitoring can succeed or fail;
- and the critical role of transparency, compliance and ecological evidence in delivering offsets that work on the ground.

The essential role of Traditional Owners in offsetting and nature-positive outcomes will be explored. Recognising the importance of Indigenous knowledge, leadership and partnership in shaping effective, ethical and enduring approaches to biodiversity conservation will be pivotal in bringing the conference themes together.

This conference is a must-attend for anyone involved in shaping, delivering or relying on offsets and the role of markets in Australia's transition to a credible, nature-positive future.
