ABOUT

With the NT government proposing substantial changes to the NT's environmental regulation it might be useful to ask: how does what we have compare to elsewhere?

Bradly Torgan is an environmental lawyer who has worked on environmental assessment in California and the NT. Consequently, he has a unique experience of what is good about each - and what they can learn from each other.

Come along and hear Brad's unique insight.

Bradly Torgan was to be a town planner in North Carolina and an environmental litigator in California before arriving in Australia to pursue a Masters in Environmental Law. He decided to stay in Australia and made his way to Darwin where he now practices in the natural resources law group at Ward Keller.
